Wesbury Announces Changes in Leadership at Grace

At the start of October, Wesbury President and CEO, Brian S. Nageotte, announced strategic changes in the leadership structure at Grace Rehabilitation and Health Center. These advancements were designed to strengthen Wesbury's focus and commitment to Wesbury staff as well as the individuals and families who turn to Wesbury expecting the highest quality programs and services meeting their short and long-term care needs.

Alishia Stevenson, BSN, NHA has been named Wesbury's Administrator for Grace Rehabilitation and Health Center. With a background in leadership, nursing, quality, and compliance, Alishia has assumed the Administrator responsibilities for Grace with a focus on positive culture change, process improvement, quality care, and staff retention.

"My plan in 2024 and beyond is re-envisioning what long-term care looks like for seniors by establishing a resident-centered approach to all services that we provide at Grace Rehabilitation and Health Center."

"It is my goal to see all levels of our nursing staff work together as a cohesive team, supporting each other, and most importantly, residents and their families. That relationship is important to our reputation of providing the highest quality care."

-Autumn Ferringer

Alishia is a graduate of Clarion University where she acquired her associate and bachelor degrees in Nursing and has more than 17 years of experience as a Registered Nurse in both acute and long-term care settings. After serving as Wesbury's Director of Nursing for six years, Alishia attended Penn State Beaver to obtain her Nursing Home Administrator license. Following her role as DON, Alishia became VP of Compliance, Risk, and Quality Management before accepting her current Administrator position.

Autumn Ferringer, RN, BSN, WCC, CWCA, is now Wesbury's Director of Nursing. With over 30 years of nursing experience, Autumn's focus is on building the nursing team to achieve optimal efficiencies while improving staff retention and quality of care for residents and their families.

Why Choose a Continuing Care Retirement Community

Life is in part a series of plans. We excitedly plan for careers, weddings, children and dreams of retirement. When we plan well, we tend to experience great results. Retirement planning typically begins with finances. We work to accumulate a nest egg to ensure enough resources to enjoy ourselves and feel secure. Unfortunately, this is where the planning often ends. The financial aspect may be in place, but no thought goes into how we might live in a way that prolongs independence and ensures future security. Why is that?

Well, frankly, we do not like to think or even talk about aging or any type of health decline. However, this is a critical time in life to plan well, especially if you want to remain as independent as possible for as long as possible and remain in control of decisions.

Most retirees reach a point where less home maintenance is desired. Golf clubs, grandkids, or travel destinations beckon. You finally have time to do what you choose. Who wants to be stuck at home cleaning, making repairs or mowing the lawn? This search for a simpler life yields many options. There are smaller houses, condos, and apartments to pick from. These choices may reduce maintenance, but that is all. What do you do if your health takes a turn?

Only a Continuing Care Retirement Community (CCRC) such as Wesbury offers the solution. Many assume that CCRC's are only for those with health care needs and dismiss the option, determining that they will not move into a community until they "need" to. It is important to understand that those who wait until they "need" to move will likely require personal care or even skilled nursing care at that point. So why should you consider moving to a CCRC?

Moving to an apartment or a condo is a quick fix but moving to residential living at Wesbury's Thoburn Village is about selecting a lifestyle that fits your dreams for today and your needs for tomorrow. Wesbury's campus offers 64 houses and 16 apartments with a variety of floor plans. While the home you choose to live in is yours to decorate as you wish, the maintenance, taxes and responsibilities are Wesbury's to resolve. Take that trip you have always dreamed of, renew your interest in a favorite hobby, or spend more time with family and friends. Additionally, enjoy free local transportation, fitness programs, educational opportunities, entertainment, and many amenities. Have the security of knowing that by choosing a CCRC, you will not need to face the research and planning of another move if you begin to require more services over time. A CCRC offers far more than just a smaller place to live.

Statistics show that you can stay independent longer with the services that are built into communities like Wesbury's Thoburn Village.

For example, if you:

- No longer drive, schedule Wesbury's transportation services.
- Are feeling lonely, stop by the Clubhouse for activities and socialization.
- No longer cook, call for a meal delivery or go to the Neighborhood Grill.
- Tire of cleaning or needing some daily support, arrange for a caregiver.
- Experience an injury or illness, go to Grace Rehabilitation and Health Center for outpatient or short-term rehabilitation.

Later on if you reach a point where you need regular assistance with daily tasks, you can move internally on campus to Cribbs Residential Center for personal care or Grace Rehabilitation and Health Center for skilled nursing care.

Life throws us some challenges, but a CCRC has the components to help you navigate these challenges while staying within the community you have come to call home.

Welcome to www.wesbury.com 4.0

We have some exciting news for the new year! Wesbury's home on the World Wide Web, www.wesbury.com, has been given a reboot! Check out the site's fresh streamlined design optimized for user friendliness and easier navigation to find exactly what you are looking for whether on a PC, tablet, or mobile device.

On the homepage you will see a navigational bar to click directly to care levels and services. Scroll further down the page to learn the four main reasons people turn to Wesbury: living, working, giving and volunteering.

But that's not all! The Wesbury Foundation pages have been updated making it easier to support Wesbury's mission through either a one-time donation or reoccurring monthly or annual donations. By making these donations you are supporting Wesbury's Benevolent Care Fund, which helps to support residents who have outlived their financial resources and depend upon Wesbury's aid to cover the costs of their care. You can also learn more about planned giving, tribute gifts, and partnership and sponsorship opportunities.

There are new calendar features where you can schedule event reminders for your calendar or join our email list for updates and news to be sent directly to your devices. With these features you won't miss any Wesbury news or events in planning your next visit. You can follow our topical blog posts, check out our employment opportunities, and download our brochures for Wesbury's services. Check out the video library in addition to our photo gallery and virtual tours. We hope when you visit the new site, no matter what you are looking for, you will find it easily.

Autumn began her career as a Certified Nurse Aide at Wesbury in 1991. She was a part of the original team that opened the Memory Support Center in 2001. With more than 18 years as a certified wound nurse, Autumn has also worked as an Infection Preventionist, Clinical Nurse Educator, and Assistant Director of Nursing before assuming her current role.

We look forward to Alishia and Autumn providing steadfast leadership to our staff and giving peace of mind to residents and their families looking for the exceptional experience we have delivered for over a century.

Wesbury Helps Prep Future Workforce Generation

Prior to the 2022/2023 school year, Wesbury Human Resources Recruiter, Michelle Sciallo, reached out to Eileen Mullen, Program Coordinator from the Crawford County K-12 Career Education Alliance, to see if they needed more volunteers for their Mock Interview program in area high schools: Maplewood, Cambridge Springs, Saegertown, Conneaut Area Senior High, Meadville, and Cochranton.

Designed for students who see graduation on the horizon and are potentially looking at entering the workforce, local business professionals, like Michelle, volunteer to simulate the interview process from start to finish. Cues like introductions, shaking hands, and making eye contact as well as the actual interview are emphasized and critiqued.

During the Mock Interviews, volunteers will coach students on how to respond to direct-answer questions, how to use perceived weaknesses in their favor, and go over their resumes to discuss ways to make them stand out to potential employers. Michelle uses actual interview sheets from Wesbury to give the students a real-life experience and then grades them based on their resumes and how well they did during the interview process.

Post interviews, the students, their teachers, and volunteer professionals come together for discussion. Some of the advice varies from showing up on time and sending follow-up emails to the expectations once candidates are hired by an employer. Michelle explains to the students that they should be authentic whether as an employee or candidate, and that attendance, work ethic, and teamwork are crucial to being successful in any position they may obtain.

Michelle Sciallo, Wesbury HR Recruiter (right) conducting a mock interview with a local high school student.

"This is a great opportunity for Wesbury," says Michelle. "This program allows us to build relationships with the school counselors, other area business professionals, and meet prospective candidates. Many of these students are not aware of what Wesbury is, let alone what career opportunities we offer, prior to speaking with me, and I have made actual job offers at Mock Interviews."

Aside from being a great networking and recruitment opportunity for area students, this program is designed to set up the next-generation workforce for success, and Wesbury is proud to be there assisting.

Are You Exercising Your Will Power?

Did you know that a significant number of American Seniors do not have a will, or they have an outdated document? We know it's a tricky subject, and we have a few ideas as to why people procrastinate before getting their affairs in order.

Most people just never get around to making a will because they don't exercise their will power. Will power is what motivates you to ignore all the reasons that you could come up with not to write a will. And it can seem like there are plenty of good reasons:

- Let's start with the most unsettling. Talking about a will and what you want to do with your assets means coming face-to-face with mortality. Do you really want to get to work on a project that makes you consider that? Why not ignore the whole thing — maybe it will go away! With some will power, though, you can start doing what needs to be done.
- Next: we know that a will is a legal document that should be put together by an attorney who specializes in estate planning. OK, attorneys make some of us uneasy. Who's this know-it-all poking their nose into your family and finances? How do you know they are any good, anyway? Plus, after your meeting, they sent you out with homework – information to gather, documents to assemble, decisions to make. Can't you just write something on the back of an envelope and be done with it? Will power calms you down. It tells you that you can seek recommendations and meet informally with several lawyers until you find the one you're comfortable working with. It tells you that the lawyer is a trained professional acting in your behalf when he or she pushes to get a complete picture of your needs and plans. And will power reminds you that short-cuts now will mean trouble for your family later.
- What if you have an uncomfortable family situation that you'd rather not have to take into account? Writing your will means dealing with that prickly situation, which in turn could mean added complexity in the disposition of your assets. You could just ignore the situation that causes you discomfort. Will power warns you that by not dealing with the situation now, while you're alive, you could bring a much worse burden to your family later on.

Bottom line? Will power reminds you that planning your estate isn't really for your benefit – it's for the benefit of the family, friends and organizations you will leave behind. Your will makes it easier on them, because it tells them exactly how your affairs will be settled. Without will power, you could leave your family grieving and in conflict or economic turmoil. Having a will does make a difference – we've witnessed first-hand at Wesbury the peace of mind a lovingly planned will has brought to the families of our donors.

Finally, will power assures you that your support of the organizations that have meant the most to you can be carried forward for generations to come. A charitable bequest builds Wesbury's financial strength and helps ensure that we'll be able to keep doing the work that you have valued. We're ready to work with you to create a meaningful gift that satisfies you and supports our mission. We're here to help. The Wesbury Foundation can be reached at 814-332-9264.

Leave a Legacy

You can leave a legacy of benevolent care by remembering our residents in your will. When you name Wesbury as a benefactor, you help support residents who have exhausted their financial resources.

Introducing Sidekick Smart Custom-Designed Smartwatch

For more than twenty-five years, Wesbury at Home has offered around-the-clock security and peace of mind at the touch of a button with its emergency response programs.

Last year, Wesbury at Home added Sidekick Smart, a custom-designed smartwatch for seniors who prefer the benefits of a medical alert system housed in a functional, stylish wearable instead of a pendant and base console. The Sidekick Smart works as a regular watch but also combines GPS and WiFi signals for pinpointing the accurate location of you or your loved one. That's not all, the Sidekick Smart has a step counter to track your steps and a heart rate monitor to measure your daily activity levels to help improve your physical well-being. The Sidekick Smart is also water resistant. No need to worry about it while showering, washing hands, or being outside watering plants or washing the car. The cost of the Sidekick Smart is $46.95 per month and like all Wesbury at Home emergency response programs, the contract is month-to-month, and you can cancel at any time.

Wesbury at Home also offers the following emergency response programs:

The original Life-Aid In-Home Landline Unit requires standard landline phone service in the home to communicate with the monitoring center. The speaker connects to a power outlet and active wall jack to provide service. The wearable pendant is waterproof, with a battery that lasts up to four years, and can be worn as a necklace or wristband and covers up to 500 square feet of pendant range from the base console. The cost is $34.95 per month.

The Cellular Based In-Home Unit option is wireless and does not require landline phone service, the speaker installation is simple, just needs to be plugged in and turned on. The device is equipped with a SIM card that utilizes AT&T cell towers (you do not have to be an AT&T customer for this service). The pendant is waterproof with a battery that lasts up to five years and can be worn as a necklace or wristband with a range of up to 650 square feet from the speaker device. The cost is $38.95 per month.

Like the new Sidekick Smart and geared for active seniors who do not spend much of their time in and around their home, the Premium Mobile Device is a waterproof pendant with built-in GPS technology that will tell emergency responders where to go in the event of an emergency. The cost of this program is $42.95 per month.

Additionally, if more than one person living in the home is in need of the same emergency protection, extra help buttons are available. Wesbury at Home also offers a lockbox service that stores keys to the home on its exterior allowing caregivers and emergency responders to access the home quickly without having to force entry during an emergency.

To find out more or to sign up for any of these programs contact Becky Guianen, Community Services Coordinator, at 814-332-9189.

70 Years of Giving and Supporting Wesbury Residents

Started in 2012, GivingTuesday is the Tuesday after Thanksgiving and is touted as a "global generosity movement unleashing the power of people and organizations to transform their communities and the world." For GivingTuesday 2023, The Wesbury Foundation chose to spotlight the Sunset Auxiliary.

This year marks 70 years since Mrs. Florence Braun reached out to the network of area United Methodist churches in an effort to make friends and raise funds for the needs of residents, thus starting the Sunset Auxiliary. This amazing group of people has constantly and quietly given of themselves to enhance the lives of Wesbury's long-term care and personal care residents.

Wesbury's Sunset Auxiliary is an all-volunteer organization that operates a gift shop at Grace Rehabilitation and Health Center and works tirelessly to sell donated items at their public sales. Through these efforts, the Auxiliary chooses to purchase items that support Wesbury residents and staff. For 2023, they used their sale proceeds to purchase a computerized projector system for Grace's Barco Chapel which helps residents to fully enjoy church services and concerts. They also purchased new tents for use at outdoor Wesbury functions like the Chicken BBQ and Employee Picnic. Having these tents eliminates rental costs and allows us to use them immediately when we need them.

What is the great thing about supporting Wesbury's Sunset Auxiliary? When you give to them through purchasing items at their annual rummage/used books/holiday sales, shopping at the gift shop, or providing a donation during special events like GivingTuesday, your entire donation (100%) goes directly to enrich the lives of Wesbury's residents. That's an impactful way to help care for our seniors! To support Wesbury's Sunset Auxiliary online today, please visit www.wesbury.com/make-a-donation/ and select "other options," "Direct my gift elsewhere," and type in "Auxiliary." Your continued support ensures the volunteer driven Wesbury Sunset Auxiliary will continue for another 70 years.

Thank You Palmiero Toyota

For the first time in its 14-year history, The Wesbury Foundation participated in the annual Palmiero Toyota Give Back Program. For every vehicle sold throughout the year, Palmiero Toyota saves a portion of the proceeds to give back to our communities through local non-profit organizations. Through November, the public voted for these organizations by stopping at Palmiero to cast no more than one vote per day. Palmeiro Toyota says 2023's Give Back Program was their largest ever with 48 area non-profit organizations participating. On GivingTuesday (the first Tuesday after Thanksgiving), representatives of all the organizations gathered at Palmiero to find out where they placed and what gifts they received during a live-streamed parade of cars. In all, more than $65,125 was awarded to the nonprofits. The charity with the most votes this year was the Pennsylvania Stitchers of Valor. They received $2,500 from the Palmiero family and a matching $2,500 grant from Toyota. The Wesbury Foundation received $500. We would like to Thank Palmeiro Toyota for their annual Give Back program that supports so many people in the area and for allowing the Wesbury Foundation to participate.

Wesbury residents vote for The Wesbury Foundation at Palmiero Toyota's "Bonus Day" (come in and donate a toy and get an extra vote) during the Give Back Program/Toys for Tots drive on "Bonus Day."

Are You Worried About a Friend, a Neighbor or Loved One?

As winter sets in with all of its quiet beauty, we crave warm comfort food and cozy evenings with our families. But, this isn't the experience for all. Many people, especially seniors, find they feel isolated, lonely and frustrated when the snow begins to fall. Simple tasks like getting the mail and taking out the garbage become a burden. They fear falling on ice and wonder how to get their driveway shoveled out. The inability to get groceries or run errands may cause them to miss important appointments or not eat properly. Loneliness, lack of proper nutrition, and stimulation can attribute to increased risk of physical and mental decline. Seniors sometimes feel that their world is getting smaller and smaller, and often they are right.

When this occurs, they find that they need support from someone to help them manage their daily needs. Today neighbors are usually working full time or running their children here and there, and families are spread across the country and not easily available. It is hard to feel helpless. Harder yet is the feeling that you are a burden to anyone, or that you can't manage anymore. For this reason along with the fear of losing independence, many seniors do not want to consider making a move to change their circumstances. But when they do, they find renewed health and wellbeing. They also feel much more in control where the included amenities allow them to regain independence – because they no longer have to ask for help from others. If you are feeling this way, or have a neighbor, friend or family member who you are worried about, consider Winter at Wesbury. A warm and safe environment with friendly neighbors and meaningful activities that includes meals, housekeeping and laundry services. Transportation to appointments and shopping is provided. For those who bring a car, cars are kept clear of snow and ice so they may come and go as they please. Personal care can be added for those who require assistance.

Gone are the worries about trudging through the snow or trying to get help from a neighbor or family member! Gone are the worries of declining health and mental wellbeing due to isolation!

Other options include respite or trial stays available for any reason any time of year. Whether you are a caregiver that needs a break or has a vacation planned, your loved one needs a change of scenery and more interaction, or you wish to try out the lifestyle at Wesbury before committing to a permanent move, consider a respite or winter stay for the length of time that you prefer. Simply bring your suitcase, we will provide the rest!

Giving Your Time Is a Feel-Good Gift

As a recent retiree, you have likely been thinking a lot about how to use your newfound freedom. Maybe it's hitting the golf course, relaxing with a good book, or catching up on all those trendy programs streaming on entertainment services. And while all those things are well-deserved and enjoyed, you might miss a little of that day-to-day problem-solving, being helpful, and socializing with others. That's where volunteering opportunities meet the best of all worlds.

Barbara Ettwein, Wesbury Volunteer (right) transporting Cribbs resident Pat Hughes to an appointment.

Volunteering provides a whole new sense of purpose a person can feel by being of service to others. Studies show that seniors who incorporate some level of volunteering in their life report more satisfaction and positivity with fewer symptoms of depression than those who didn't volunteer.

Barbara Ettwein might be new to being a Wesbury volunteer, but helping others was instilled in her at a young age watching her parents care for her grandparents in their home. Barb grew up in northwest Pennsylvania. After retiring from George Junior in Grove City, Barb chose to move to Montana to volunteer with the United Methodist Church and People's International near the Blackfeet Reservation. This year, with friends and family still living in PA, Barb decided to move back for the winter months, with plans to return to Montana during the spring and summer. She has a local apartment with intentions of making this her annual lifestyle. Barb likes her retirement freedoms and doesn't want to go back to work. She also feels she has the time and energy to help where there is a need. After reviewing volunteer opportunities in the area, Barb chose to volunteer with Wesbury. She helps the Cribbs Dietary Department and transports residents to out-of-town appointments.

There are many organizations where you can choose to help, at Wesbury, we have opportunities that vary from helping with activities like games, crafts, and music to escorting residents to and from activities, therapy, and the beauty salons. There is a need for volunteer companions to accompany residents on shopping trips and to doctor's or medical appointments. In addition, aides are needed for mail delivery in the afternoons, sewing and mending, assisting in the dining rooms, or painting and polishing nails. In an organization like Wesbury, there are also clerical needs and other areas where volunteers support staff.

If you feel like you have the time and inclination to volunteer, Stacey Hoey, Wesbury Volunteer Coordinator would love to meet with you and discuss where you could fit in. Stacey can be reached by phone at 814-332-9280 or by email at SHoey@wesbury.com.

"The staff and the residents have been great, there is a real family feeling at Wesbury, and that's why I plan to return to volunteering at Wesbury while I am living in the area." says Barb.

Grace Ranked #11 in PA!

For the fourth consecutive year, Wesbury has been named a top nursing home in Pennsylvania by Newsweek magazine. In the recently released, "Best Nursing Homes 2024 Report," Grace Rehabilitation and Health Center comes in at #11 statewide. There was only one other local provider recognized, and Wesbury was ranked higher according to the report. The report is intended as a tool for consumers to support their considerations in their healthcare options.

"America's Best Nursing Homes 2024" highlights the nation's top 750 nursing homes out of 12,273 analyzed. For their report, Newsweek partnered with respected global data research firm Statista to create their fourth annual ranking of America's Best Nursing Homes. The rankings are based on five data sources, including performance data, peer recommendations, management of COVID-19, and accreditations from The Joint Commission, and Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities. For the first time, resident satisfaction data for nursing homes, based on National Safety Goals from The Joint Commission and Google Scores, was added to the scoring model with the inclusion of nursing homes with 100-149 beds.

"We are honored to be consistently recognized both nationally and state-wide for the high-quality care Wesbury staff provides residents and families. We are grateful to be acknowledged for the dedication and hard work our staff provides our residents every day," says Grace Rehabilitation and Health Center Administrator, Alishia Stevenson.
